Thomson, of New Jersey, on the Conquest of California; Delivered in the United States Senate, August 9, 1856 The following resolution being under consideration - Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to furnish the Senate with copies of the dispatches from Commodore Stockton in 1846, forwarded by Mr. Christopher Carson, giving an account of his operations in California; also, if in possession of the government, any dispatch or history from Messrs. W. B. Ide, John Grigaby, and Samuel Nash, relative to the declaration of independence, or the hoisting of the Bear flag in California, previously to the arrival of Commodore Sloat on that station - Mr. Thomson addressed the Senate as follows: Mr. President: I had the honor to submit, a few days ago, to the Senate, a resolution asking for copies of the dispatches which Commodore Stockton forwarded from California to the government in 1846, by Mr. Christopher Carson; and for a copy of a report or history of the origin and completion of the revolution in California, signed by Wm. B. Ide, John Grigsby, and John H. Nash. These documents, I think, would throw light upon a subject which, from various causes, has been much misunderstood by the people generally, and I hope it may be in the power of the proper departments to furnish the information which has been asked for. These documents relate, sir, to the early history of the revolutionary and military movements of the American settlers, and to the operations of the United States naval forces under Commodores Sloat and Stockton in California. Mr. Fremont has frequently been termed the...
